3. AFC Lauds Ethiopian Airlines in Annual Infrastructure Report

Reporter; June 7, 2025

Ethiopian Airlines now controls 35 percent of Africa's cargo market, according to a new report from the African Finance Corporation (AFC).

The latest edition of the multilateral finance institution's annual infrastructure report indicates the competition lags far behind, with Kenyan Airways and Royal Air Maroc accounting for a combined market share of 25 percent.

The report highlighted that passenger and cargo transport between African countries remains low, particularly in West Africa, where European airlines dominate.

Ethiopia and Kenya were recognized for leveraging their national airlines to boost export trade, and the report encouraged other African countries to follow their example.

4. Afreximbank allocates USD 1 Billion for Ethiopian businesses and financial institutions

Capital: June 8, 2025

The African Export-Import Bank (Afreximbank) is encouraging Ethiopian businesses and financial institutions to take advantage of the USD 1 billion allocated for the country over the next year. This initiative coincides with Ethiopia's steps toward greater currency convertibility, as highlighted by the National Bank of Ethiopia (NBE), which emphasizes the continental bank's role in directly financing businesses.

Recently, Afreximbank conducted a two-day roadshow in Addis Ababa, its second in four years, to demonstrate its commitment to supporting Ethiopia's economic development, which is being propelled by significant policy reforms.

Fikadu Digafie, Vice Governor and Chief Economist of the NBE, noted the success of Ethiopia's macroeconomic reforms over the past ten months.

5. Exporters face hurdles in Europe's fast fashion market

Capital; June 8, 2025

As Ethiopia seeks to expand its exports of clothing, fruits, and vegetables, the country is encountering significant challenges in the European Union's fast-paced and highly competitive "fast fashion" market. Despite recent infrastructure investments and a track record of success in the U.S. market, logistics bottlenecks and supply chain inefficiencies are hampering Ethiopia's ability to meet the EU's demanding seasonal cycles and rapid turnaround requirements.

These issues took center stage at the National Logistics Conference, organized by the Ethiopia Freight Forwarders & Shipping Agents Association (EFFSAA) in partnership with Bahir Dar University. Industry experts and stakeholders gathered to discuss solutions for the country's logistics sector, which is increasingly seen as the linchpin for Ethiopia's export ambitions.

Matthew Crighton, Head of Trade & Investment at the international consultancy Triple Line, highlighted the stark differences between the U.S. and EU apparel markets. "The EU market for apparel is really different, it's more fast-fashioned and trendy. The EU has four seasons, with buyers prioritizing fashion for each season. As buyers prioritize quick response and flexibility, suppliers need these to be done quickly," Crighton explained.

8. Ethiopia to post faster growth despite debt, inflation Africa news: 10/06/ 2025

Finance Minister Ahmed Shide told parliament that the economy was forecast to expand 8.9% in fiscal year 2025/2026.

It had been originally projected to grow 8.4%.

Ethiopia, one of Africa's fastest growing economies remains tied down by debt, inflation and currency shortages.

Last year, Addis Ababa secured a $3.4 billion bailout from the International Monetary Fund (IMF) after receiving guarantees for debt relief from major creditors including China and the Paris Club.

In exchange, it agreed to stop propping up its currency and to carry out a 30% devaluation.

That condition has been partly blamed for rampant inflation which stood at 14.4% in April.

As a measure, the central bank has maintained tighter control over money supply and limited private-sector lending. Ethiopia is also required to open its banking and telecom sector to foreign investment.

Ethiopia's economy has suffered back to back blows from Covid-19, a war in the northern region of Tigray and conflict in Ukraine.
